Dear Burton News

COWARDI Y NOTES

Could the person who puts unsigned/undated hand written or typed letter/s through our door have the courtesy to knock on the door if they consider our dog to be problem. We assume the handwritten and typed are by the same person. Our dog is in a 10 foot square pen during the day on three days when both of us are out, when we come in he comes in. He goes out for a walk before we leave and a walk at night. The pen has a kennel, he has toys (frisby, stick and balls) and water. Our dog is not a barky dog. He never barks when the door bell rings or if someone knocks at the door. We would ask how do you know its our dog? There are other dogs in the vicinity that bark. Do you stand and watch him? Have you thought that might be the reason why he's barking? Do you suggest we keep him in all day? (We personally feel that fresh air is better than being indoors.)

We're not saying that he never barks, he's a dog, but he never barks when we are in. He will bark at a cat if he sees one, but we can't stop cats coming into our garden. He may even bark at people who walk past the garden, but that's his job, he's a dog. We do have an anti-dog-barking device fitted.

Our friend who lives on Neddy Hill is in during the day, she says she doesn't hear our dog barking all day as suggested.

We think it's cowardly that you do not have the courage to personally voice your opinion but to hide behind an undated unsigned note. Our dog has been going in his pen for nearly 3 years but yet have only recently had a complaint from unsigned and undated. In view of these comments we'll just have to keep him indoors.

Rob & Karen Wright, Burton Park

BALDWIN GENEALOGY

Looking into my family history, especially the Baldwin family of Burton who lived at Barton Row from the late 1800s to at least 1920s. They were John (father, died 1938), Margaret (mother, died 1907), children: Joseph Henry (died 1966, Yealand Conyers), Thomas (my great great grandfather, died 1938, Storth), Albert (died 1st world war,1918), Ernest (died 1st world war,1919), Margaret (moved to Salford), and Lily (moved to Bundaberg Australia and married another old Burtonian (Aaron James Docker). The Baldwin family had lived in the Holme/Burton area since the very early 1800s.

They have a headstone in Burton cemetery on the left just as you go in. My main interest is finding old pictures of them, so if anyone has any old pics I would be most happy with any copies/scans or whatever. There is one picture in the Burton, Clawthrope and Dalton book of Margaret (Maggie) and daughter Lily.

WINDFARM UPDATE

The prospective developer - EON - has not as far as I am aware made any move to let the people of Burton know how we will be affected if planning permission is granted. No application has yet been made. It appears that one of the landowners has been paying students in Lancaster to get shoppers to sign a petition in favour of windfarms - at possibly £20,000 per turbine per annum it will have been worthwhile if consent is given.

I note the massive new Thanet windfarm, which can power 200,000 homes when running at full capacity, occupies an area equivalent to 4,000 football fields - a convential or nuclear power station occupies about 2 football fields. Luckily this farm is at sea. The average efficiency of wind turbines is 25%. During periods of high pressure, especially in winter when demand is highest, wind farms are useless and remember every megawatt produced by wind has to be matched by a back-up supply from an alternative source.

All wind farms are built with huge subsidies through Renewables Obligation Certificates. These subsidies and the Climate Change Levy imposed on gas and coal fired stations mean that we, the consumers, face soaring bills to finance a negligible environmental benefit. Any benefit, even if it was huge, cannot be justified in the case of the Longfield Tarn development for what is proposed is an environmental monstrosity.

A couple of interesting facts - renewable energy has recently fallen from 6.5% to 5.9% which is apparently due to windpower being down 11.3% and hydropower being down 32%.

In 2004 the Royal Academy of Engineering costed a kilowatt hour of electricity from an offshore windfarm at 7.2p, gas 2.2p, 2.3p from nuclear and 2.5p from coal.

Outdoors

Now that the sun is lowering in the sky, paths are turning again to mud. Withered stems and grasses are trampling down to mulch. Bleached goosegrass dangles from the hedges in hanks, its wee green seed-heads shrivelled to grey granules. The only flowers left are the lemony bells of bindweed. Berries gradually replaced flowers, the rowan softer between the fingers than the hawthorn but haws are still a fruit, and I'll never forget the rose wine Anne made from haws twenty-five years ago, crystal-clear like pale rubies. Both trees have been glowing red in a year of heavy fruiting, like embers on hillside hearths.

A mixture of rot and richness, then. So why does autumn get called 'the most beautiful time of year'? More beautiful than the egg and butter yellows of daffodil and primrose? The luminous lettuce greens of every tree and bush in the first weeks of leafing? The flaunting scarlet of poppies and roses and runner beans as summer matures? The honeyed purple of heather as summer starts slowly to burn out? How could the year's first unfolding, then its prime, conceivably not be more beautiful, more heart-warming, than the time when things begin to show their age?

The fact is that there are two autumns: the season of sunlight still strong on dew and gossamer, and the season when every growing thing outdoors (except the conifers) has been dishevelled by shortening days, night frosts, chilly rains, and is decomposing into a rotting pulp. This sequence has to be. At our latitude 54 degrees north of the Equator, we have to make the best of it and knuckle under to the finish of outdoor bowls and barbecues for a whole six months. Just think of the weary monotony that would prevail if the sun shone high in the sky the whole year round, we could wear light clothes and eat out in the garden every day, and revel in the continuous company of swifts and swallows as they dazzled us with their aerobatics under cloudless blue... Fat chance, you must be thinking. As it is, we must now hold onto the last few bright glimpses. Autumn crocuses luminous mauve (until wet gusts lay them low). Holly berries clustering crimson (until the fieldfares fly in from Scandinavia and gobble the lot). Such are the poignant beauties of October's Indian summer - our strange phrase for the last British warmth of the year, and an ironical phrase, since a real Indian summer would leave us gasping for air and shade and water.

Roger Reports...

The announcement about the effect the central government cuts will have on local government will come after the Burton News deadline. But scrutiny of council finance is never ending. While leaving major decisions - like school and care home closures (none predicted in our area) - to the county's Cabinet we have been busy on Cumbria's South Area's Budget Committee. We have recommended that a so called 'place survey' be discontinued to save at least £5,000 as the information about 'places', e.g. villages, should be obtainable from other council sources, including parish, district and county councillors plus the Neighbourhood Forums and CALC (Cumbria Association of Local Councils.)

I have continuing anxieties about the cost-effectiveness of the Local Area Partnerships, as I believe that LAPS meetings of representatives from neighbouring parishes often duplicate issues already in the public domain. Also support for LAPS is variable. There is a quite good attendance at the Sedbergh LAP which includes part of our Lower Kentdale Division but at the last South Westmorland Lap (which covers Burton) 'officers' outnumbered parish representatives. Please let me know what you think.

Some good LAP news - there is an additional £2,500 available to spend on community ventures for our area. Do you have any ideas?

I also have doubts about the effectiveness of Highway Stewards. Happily, after some worries, I have managed to ensure that the £1,000 pa grant towards Burton's hardworking Lengthsman's remuneration will continue. Also on roads we are undecided about charging charities the cost of Local Transport Orders, required for road closures for special events, which might include our Whitsuntide procession. We will ask the South Area Committee to decide if the Agricultural Society should pay for TRO's associated with the County Show.

Other hard financial issues include the Sandgate Hydrotherapy Pool in Kendal. Everybody, appreciates the need for this well-used facility for disabled people but whether it should receive a £44,000 grant from the council tax rather than be paid for by the NHS may well be debated. Certainly I would resist any threat to Sandgate's future and would appreciate as much support as possible.

For people with personal debt problems, who do not have or cannot get a bank account, we have recommended extending Credit Union coverage for South Lakeland at a cost of £16,000. Credit Unions, which have been successful in north Cumbria, will help rescue debtors from 'loan sharks' whom we were told have extorted 100% interest 'with intimidation' in the Kendal area. We hope also to extend the Concessionary Travel Scheme for Young Persons by providing them with SAMS Cards on their 16th birthday. Fares will be £1 per journey or (£1.50 return) and they can be used for journeys to Lancaster and neighbouring places outside South Lakeland. At the other end of the age scale I have been serving on a 'task group' about Dementia and Alzheimers which are increasing amongst older people. The aim is to promote early 'living well with dementia'. The contact help-line number is Fiona Moncur 07980 015415. In South Lakeland the average annual hospital admissions for Dementia in the over-65 population are 38 for males and 50 for females. The next highest rate is for Carlisle (which has a similar population to South Lakeland) is 17 and 24. The figures for Eden which has a much smaller population are 4 and 7.

Meanwhile, South Lakeland Council decided not to have an elected Mayor - a sort of big town (and big salary) boss on the Boris Johnson model. I think we were right. Sorry about all the questions. Best wishes, Sunday the 10th day of the 10th month of year 10 proved to be a very special day indeed for The Bowmen of Holme archery club. We could not have picked a better day on which to hold our very first club competition. Even the sun came out to shine on us, and the club members came out in force to take advantage of it. The turn out was very near 100%, consisting of senior gents, ladies, and juniors. We even had a number of spectators. Much needed refreshments were also provided.

The rounds shot were all nationals and scored on a handicap system. The results were:

Ladies

1st Dianne Chaplow 2nd Paula Firth 3rd Gillian Turner Gents

1st Leslie Chaplow 2nd Barry Norbury 3rd Ian Wilson Junior Gents

1st Adam Weatherill 2nd Oliver Chaplow

Junior Boys

1st Nathan Jackson 2nd Harry Chaplow

Junior Girls

34th Annual Onion Show

The Show was held at the Kings Arms on 3 October. A superb display of entries was judged by Mr and Mrs Roger Shaw.

There were several new entrants, including the Novice Class for new growers. The Best Exhibit in the Show and Most Points in the Show was won by Emma Hensey of Drovers Way. The Onion and Leek classes were well supported, as were the Children's competitions. Ally the Clown put on 2 hours of entertainment for the children

Please can we say thank you to:

Roger and Sheila Shaw for judging the Onion Show with skill and style, Neil and Ann at the Kings Arms, for all their support before and during the Show. All our class sponsors for your generosity, which in total amounts to over £180. Our show exhibitors, without whose skill and generosity we would not have a show. This year saw an outstanding display of produce, please keep up the good work. The many generous donations we received for the Auction of Promises. without which it would be impossible to raise the fantastic sum of £3600. The Sports Committee for their help throughout from planning to completion. Val Still and John Jackson for their dedicated support. Jonathan and Andrew Barker of Mitchells, for printing and the Mitchell trophies. Gill and Akis, Burton Village Stores, and Burton Butchers for selling the £ in the envelope, and their generous donations. Burton News for the fantastic publicity they give to the Onion Show. Our wives, Molly and Barbara, along with Jackie Waller and Sally Lancaster on the day. Grahame Wilson and Lesley Mayne for the entry taking. All of you who came along and bought produce on the day, without you we could not generate the magnificent sum of £3600.

The proceeds will be split between Burton Children's Sports Committee and Macmillan Cancer Care, with donations to Burton News and First Reponders.

SAILOR'S PRAYER COMMEMORATES TRAFALGAR DAY

A novel departure from normal proceedings at the opening of the council meeting: the Chairman celebrated the 200th anniversary of Trafalgar Day by reading a prayer which an English seaman had written prior to the Battle of Trafalgar. The prayer was of course addressed to God, and An Opinion pondered, as the words rolled over her, how similarly its gist must have been echoed by French sailors praying to virtually the same God.

And what decision did this Divine Presence alight on? For the English it was a fair but ruthless one. Victory would go to them, but in return they must sacrifice their most revered naval leader, Admiral Lord Nelson. An outcome worthy of a Greek myth, or a tale handed down by Viking warriors.

But the myth doesn't end there. Almost to the day, the decision to build the Ark Royal aircraft carrier – devoid of British planes – was announced in Parliament. And whose planes are going to lodge in its belly, and take off and land on its landing deck? Well, French ones, apparently. Was there perhaps a touch of Divine fairness being meted out here?

Police Report

Once again CPSO Bullock came to give her report. And it was a surprising one indeed, to most of us. There has been a spate of burglaries both in Burton and in surrounding areas. It seems we are being "targeted". In most cases property taken was unsecured, though a SatNav was taken from a car by smashing the windscreen. Many of the crimes have occurred in broad daylight. In reply to a question, CPSO Bullock agreed that had a police dog been available, it might have been possible to catch one of the miscreants, who fled, leaving behind a jacket. She informed the council that setting up a Neighbourhood Watch area was an effective deterrent to thieves. NB the CPSO's report appears elsewhere in this newsletter.

Fire Report

A notice was read from the Fire Dept, warning Burtonians to try to avoid leaving inflammable material, and wheelie-bins etc insecure particularly on Mischief Night (Hallowe'en).

Those Verges – cont, Part 111

Once again a resident raised the question of the overgrown verges along the west side of the A 6070, during Public Forum...

Question: Is there any chance of them being cut back, to make a refuge from oncoming traffic, for pedestrians?

Answer: The lengthsman can't cut the undergrowth as he hasn't the right equipment. The hedges are the responsibility of the landowner. It's possible that, if they are deemed dangerous, they may be cut by CCC and the bill presented to the farmer. There is now a well-mown area on the east side of the road, from Church Stile to Sunny Bank, and it's possible to reach the footpath across the fields to Clawthorpe from here. This does not solve the problem further along the road going north, though. The Clerk will notify CCC. Meantime the road remains a hazard to pedestrians, claimed a member of the public, and most PCllrs seemed to agree.

Local Area Partnership

This is a fairly recent brainchild for local parish councils which everyone seems to hate, not least our rep, who reported on the most recent meeting. Most PCs have apparently opted out. But Burton is made of sterner stuff, and kept a foot in the door. Our rep reported that the latest meeting was disorganised and a Dist Cllr present agreed, though not in such strong terms. It seems to A.O. that the very PCs that opted out (who turned up anyway) came off best, with funds being meted out for the asking. As usual Holme seemed to come off better than Burton. And what did Burton get out of it, to put it frankly? Reply: Together with three other parishes they'll hopefully get funds for handoperated footway gritters for winter. But there were other funds for the taking, probably as a one-off. For example Natland, Arnside and Preston Richard came away with funds for dog-poo bins. Why not Burton? Somehow it seems to A.O. that it was an opportunity lost.

The Parish Budget

The budget, and how to spend it, is the nitty-gritty of the whole parish council operation, so why do the figures swirl before A.O.'s eyes like dejected autumn leaves? With what fastidious care the Parish Clerk prepares the charts. With what exemplary detail he explains them. As he speaks, A.O. draws her fingers along the lines of figures, grateful if she manages to identify any of them. It's true that a sort of low cunning enables her to sniff out the occasional anomaly, but that's just a stroke of luck, and it never happens with this clerk's budgeting.

And so, dear reader, A.O. can only recommend that you all consult the tables displayed on the PC notice-boards, and no doubt on the PC website. Years ago A.O. had the temerity to claim the surplus was too high (it was around £11,000 then, as I remember.) That surplus has been reduced, and now stands at around £7,103, though the aim is to reduce it gradually to £5,000. So, for this year, the precept has been reduced by 10%, giving the PC £12,403 for next year, and us taxpayers less to pay on our council bills.

Thankfully the PC withdrew its invested funds from the Bank of Ireland before it ran into financial difficulties. And NatWest interest rates are likely to improve in the future, so we are assured. PCllrs will mull over the figures which will be presented for approval at the November meeting. As for A.O., the only mulling she's likely to indulge in is the wine variety.

Historical Footnote by Roger Bingham

1919 "When this lousy war is over"

When the guns fell silent on the Western Front at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month in 1918 the so called 'Great War' was proclaimed as 'the War to end all wars'. Fifty years later the most ironic song in the film "Oh what a lovely war" began with the words "When this lousy war is over."

Immediately, there were mixed attitudes in the first post war year of 1919. In an effort to get back to peacetime normality Atkinson and Griffin's Garage of Kendal advertised "Victory cars - Angus Sanderson, Armstrong Siddeley, Belsize, Darracq, Daimler, Ford and Standard."

On Easter Monday 'traffic was the heaviest ever seen' in Burton. At St. James' Church "Stainer's Crucifixion" was performed 'as a memorial' and the anthem at the Easter Communion was "the strife is o'er the battle won."

At Whitsuntide the usual fancy dress procession halted in The Square where Colonel Weston M.P. presented a gold watch and chain to Burton's most decorated soldier Sergeant Quarter Master M. Crayston who had won the Military Medal and Bar. Five of S.Q.M. Crayston's brothers had also served in the war. Sadly the death was announced of a recently demobbed Burton soldier Sergeant Ernest Baldwin. His brother Albert 'was also among the fallen.'

Meanwhile almost every community became involved in a near civil war about the best type of 'Memorials for the Fallen.' Hutton Roof was the first local village to erect a memorial when a brass plaque to their late vicar Theodore Hardy V.C. was unveiled in August. Elsewhere matters were more complicated. To begin with no one was sure which of the 'gloriest dead' should be commemorated. For instance, should Burton's memorial include farm men who had enlisted from the village but who had only lived locally for a short time? And what about native villagers whose address at their deaths was elsewhere?

Queen Elizabeth School at Kirkby Lonsdale decided, eventually, to commemorate all servicemen including former boarding pupils if their families had answered newspaper advertisements requesting information but many names were left off. This confusion possibly led to a decision not to inscribe names on Burton's memorial but instead to display photographs, in the church porch, of the fallen, which are now in the County Archives in Kendal.

In March 1919, following earlier discussions, a meeting presided over by the vicar The Rev R.W. Briton 'considered four memorials: 1) a stained glass window, 2) a native stone tablet, 3) a stone cross, and 4) a new cross in the Market Square. The Chairman stated that a window would cost about £200, a tablet £35, a cross £100. The voting was: a cross 21; tablet 14; window 4. Upon a difference of opinion arising it was finally decided that a referendum be taken throughout the parish.' The poll results were: cross 'in the church' 237; tablet 118; market square cross 94; stained glass window 56. But the matter did not end there because the non-conformists, some of whom objected to a cross in the first place, did not want the memorial to be inside the church. As a result it was another eighteen months before the present elaborate memorial with (a smallish) cross was presented to the parish council and erected at the street entrance to the churchyard.

Understandably, no local attention had been paid to a Westmorland Gazette report, in March 1919, that the 'German National People's Party' was agitating for the return of their Great War leader the Kaiser and a resumption of the war. Twenty years later the same party under a new name 'the Nazis' and with a new 'leader' Hitler precipitated the Second World War, whose name demonstrated that the 1919 memorials were not, ultimately, for the "war to end all wars."

News from Cumbria Police...

Recently there have been a number of thefts from secure dwellings and insecure outer buildings across the Burton, Holme and Lupton area. May

I stress the importance of locking sheds/garages and not advertising your valuables to thieves. Even something simple as removing your SatNav from your car windscreen will help to prevent you becoming a victim of crime.

The thefts that have occurred have ranged in value from a few hundred pounds to many thousands of pounds. It is important that you are vigilant and report anything suspicious to police, be it a vehicle or a person. I do not wish to cause you any unnecessary concern and you should not be fearful about living in your neighbourhood. You live in a safe area and Cumbria Police need your help to continue in the fight against crime. If you think your property has been targeted, do not touch anything, call Cumbria Police straight away on 0845 33 00 247. In an emergency dial 999.

In the meantime if you would like any crime prevention advice please don't hesitate to get in touch with me on 0845 33 00 247 or jessica.bullock@cumbria.police.uk. I am more than willing to attend groups that meet in the area and discuss home and personal safety issues with you, all you need to do is ask – it would be nice to get to know some more faces.

The Vicar Writes...

The greatest rescue ever!

I'm writing this watching the amazing scenes at the San Jose mine in Chile. Having spent 69 days trapped in the hot, humid, shelter half a mile below the surface, the miners are being brought out one by one, hoisted up through the specially drilled narrow shaft in the tiny rescue capsule they're calling Phoenix. As each miner emerges, there is an emotional reunion with loved ones and rapturous celebrations throughout Chile.

"This is surely the greatest rescue story of all time," says the TV reporter. His words get me thinking. My mind goes to the Bible and to the rescue story that dominates its pages. It's a rescue on a much greater scale than the Chilean operation for it involves the whole world, and of much greater magnitude because what's at stake is where we spend eternity. Nevertheless, there are similarities between them and the rescue mission in Chile can help us understand the greatest rescue ever.

The miners found themselves trapped by a devastating rock fall blocking their way to the surface. We find ourselves trapped by the catastrophic Fall that happened in the Garden of Eden when our first parents Adam and Eve rejected God and were subsequently cut off from Him. Since that day every human being has been infected with their rebellion and enslaved by our sin which blocks the way to God, the source of life. We "are all under sin." (Romans 3:9).

And just as the miners are totally helpless to rescue themselves and wholly dependent on someone from outside to come down and pull them out, so we are helpless to save ourselves from sin and need someone outside our predicament to come and get us out.

For the miners, help from above arrived in the person of the first rescue worker. Help for us has arrived from above in the person of Jesus Christ. This is how the Bible puts it: "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners" (1 Timothy 1:15) and "at just the right time, when we were still powerless, Christ died for the ungodly." (Romans 5:6) Out of great love for us, He entered our darkness to pull us out and bring us to God. By living a perfect life for us, dying on the cross to take the punishment for our sin and rising again He has removed the barrier that stood between us and God and the way is now open for us to get out.

There is only one way out for the miners. They have to get into that rescue capsule and be pulled up the shaft. If they refuse, they'll have to stay in the darkness. Likewise, there is only one way of rescue for us. Jesus said: "I am the way and the truth and the life. No-one comes to the Father except through me." (John 14:6) If we refuse to come to Jesus, we will perish. But if we believe in Jesus we will be saved.

We are all caught up in the greatest disaster ever, but, If we want, we can all benefit from the greatest rescue mission ever.

Paul

Holme Park Quarry Local Nature Reserve Butterflies 2010

What a wonderful year it has been for butterflies in gardens and on nature reserves – though not so good for unprotected brassicas!

At Holme Park Quarry reserve total numbers have been over twenty percent more than the highest count of previous years. The peak period was from the last week of June to mid July when High Brown and Dark Green Fritillaries were abundant, together with Graylings, Large Skippers and nine other species.

This year has shown that, whilst butterflies are generally in decline, sunny summer weather can bring about a dramatic increase, as long as suitable natural habitats are maintained. Continuing a planned programme of scrub control at the reserve should have the desired effect.

Some butterflies are going against the trend and increasing in numbers. In the early nineties the Speckled Wood was only found in one small part of South Cumbria. Now this attractive butterfly, with its creamy-yellow patches on a brown background, is frequently seen in gardens and alongside hedgerows, as well as in its shady woodland home.

The Ringlet has come into this area in the last two or three years, so it was little surprise that it turned up on the reserve this year for the first time, bringing the total species count since 2003 to twenty six. It is easily mistaken for the more common Meadow Brown, but is darker. With wings closed, a string of yellow rings with Local butterfly recorders have been invited to carry out counts within the quarry itself next year. If anyone is interested in taking part in this exercise more details can be obtained from myself (01524 781474) or Martin Wain (01524 33851) of Butterfly Conservation.

Helping with transect recording is an excellent way of learning more about wildlife and a good reason for taking a weekly walk in pleasant surroundings.

Butterfly records can be viewed on the website at http://naturereserve.burtonweb.org.uk with more information about the reserve and its management.

A Note from the Post Office

Sending Post Abroad this Year?

Novembe's final dates for posting are as follows:

International Surface Mail

- ◆ Tue 9 Nov Eastern Europe, Greece, Cyprus, Turkey, Malta and Iceland
- ◆ Tue 23 Nov Western Europe

Other Countries - dates have passed for International Surface Mail.

For those of you sending parcels abroad this year, before you go out and buy a full-sized Barbie scooter for your niece in Australia, may I remind you of the maximum sizes for sending items abroad with Royal Mail.

Maximum length for an overseas parcel is 60cm (approx 2 ft) with a maximum total of length + width + height of 90 cm (approx 3ft) Also, the maximum weight is 2 kg.

It is really easy to exceed these and then the parcel would cost a great deal more to send via Parcel Force. It is often cheaper to split a heavy parcel and send two packets. Come & ask us at the Post Office Counter for further advice.

BT Race to Infinity Superfast Broadband Campaign

Over the next five years BT is rolling out superfast fibre optic broadband across the UK. Having access to superfast internet will benefit many rural communities, allowing people to work from home and compete in global market places as well as keep in touch with family and friends around the world. Upgrading our lines to fibre optic will allow such faster access exchange to exchange already uses fibre rather than copper, it's just the exchange to house which suffers the slowness of copper lines. Now we have a chance to campaign for our lines to be upgraded to fibre too.

BT want to know which communities want their exchanges upgraded first. For it to happen at all we need at least 1000 votes for Burton exchange. To vote is simple: all you need to do is go to the BT Race to Infinity website here http://www.racetoinfinity.bt.com/ and vote. It's a simple process and takes 2 minutes of your time. By doing this we're letting BT know that fast internet technologies are important for our community. We need as many households as possible to vote it's one vote per address this time! So please do support this important upgrade opportunity.

The five areas with the largest percentage of votes by 31 December 2010 will win the chance to bring superfast broadband to their area. BT will also donate £5,000 of computer equipment to a local community project.

Whether you're big on social networking, gaming, streaming, uploading or downloading, prepare to have your life transformed with superfast speeds.

To vote simply go to the Race to Infinity website' and enter your details. Don't forget to pass it on to your friends on Facebook and Twitter to get our exchange to the top of the scoreboard.

Can Burton do it? We think so!

Presenting Vivaldi's 'Gloria' and Carols from the Oxford Book of Carols at St Mary's Church, Kirkby Lonsdale on Sunday 12 December at 7.30pm. Tickets: admission at the door £8.00, accompanied children free.

One of Vivaldi's most stunning masterpieces, the 'Gloria' is a work of rich contrasts and mood opposites - joyful/dark, playful/majestic, personal/universal. These theatrical qualities contribute largely to its immediate and universal appeal.

The Oxford Book is possibly the most famous and complete of all carol collections, greatly respected for being edited by Ralph Vaughan Williams and friends.

Safe and secure...

Well, are you sure? With the drawing in of the nights the unwelcomed attention of the burglar comes our way once more. Not that the danger is not present during the lighter evenings, or even broad daylight for those with the cheek to get away with it, but the cover of darkness means that the sneak thief has more opportunity. We've already had several incidents in the area so be warned. On the plus side, reports of suspicious persons around have been made and it's important to keep doing so - the 'squeaky wheel' really does get the grease when it comes to policing our streets, and perhaps even more so now that there's less 'grease' to go round?

Didn't we do well?

The previous month saw a great effort in various fund raising events in Burton and shows that even in tough times the residents of this village can still dig deep for worthwhile causes. Well done and thank you to all concerned.

Has he got lost?

The man with the white line machine that is! It's been some time now since the Main Street was resurfaced and still there are no replacement road markings. Surely the road surface is set enough by now? Has the money run out perhaps? But surely these white lines would have been part of the original cost for the job? Can anyone give a reason for the delay, and how does it affect any traffic accident investigation if the markings are not there - can anyone be brought to book for not getting the job done promptly? We all know how insurance companies look hard to offset their losses!

Next issue...

Don't forget that December and January is a combined issue, out 1 December, so send us your letters, comments, news and events for both months, before the 20 November and we'll make sure they go in for you.
