LETTERS

Dear BN

A truly splendid exhibition

Many congratulations to the organising teams of the Holme & District Local History Society responsible for the truly splendid WW1 Exhibition Our Village Soldiers. Such meticulous attention given to the enormous volume of archived material, was a remarkable reflection of many hours of dedicated research. The entire presentation was moving, dignified and uplifting in equal measure. And how very fortunate we are that it all came to pass here in Burton and in Holme. Thank you indeed.

Joan Barkley, Burton

PC Observations...

Reporting from the Parish Council meeting

Almost a full house for the 20 November meeting. The rather 'thin-looking' agenda lived up to expectations but I will do my best to make it sound interesting. The Police Report was largely about suspicious vehicles and petty theft. Strong advice to ensure that outbuildings are securely locked because there have been thefts of red diesel and a trials bike during the last month. Oil tanks too should be locked. Speed monitoring has shown that average speeds on Church Road (36mph from 15 - 20 September) are exceeding legal limits and at Burton School, the average is 29.5mph – a concern with so many children about. To the south of the village the average speed in the 40mph zone was 45mph with one vehicle clocked at 85mph! All this data goes to the appropriately named CRASH team for analysis and might lead to more systematic and more regular speed monitoring in future. In the meantime, please drive more slowly through Burton!

After the routine review of planning applications and budgetary affairs, councillors were asked for views about an invitation to transfer the current

Quality Parish status to a new 'Local Council Award Scheme' Since councillors had not noticed any gain with the old scheme, they sensibly declined the invitation. They also agreed not to comment about the SLDC Parish Charter and the County Council Budget Consultation.

A new Parish Clerk – Christine Davidson – has been appointed to succeed Jane Johnson, who retires after a year in post.

Finally, councillors reported their news. Councillor Mason-Hornby reported the arrival of a Great Grey Shrike, a large songbird, in Dalton Woods.

Councillor Jane Hopwood reported on a recent Quarry Liaison Meeting at which the extension of the quarry life to 2043 had been discussed. She also noted that the Aggregate Levy (£2/ton of stone removed from the quarry) which had benefitted Burton in the past has apparently been dropped by the Government and that Cumbria County Council have discontinued the post of Ecological Officer, which could affect decisions concerning the local environment.

Jane also complimented the local History Society for the recent commemoration exhibition of local involvement in the World Wars.

Everyone agreed that it was a great show and over £300 was raised during the weekend for the Poppy Appeal.

Roger Bingham reported that the county council have dropped their plan to charge for on-street parking in Kendal and possibly Kirkby Lonsdale.

Chairman Mike Taylor and Councillor Paul Rogers called for council action to solve the continual flooding problem on Tanpits Lane. Roger Bingham will investigate this and also the non-payment to-date of the annual Lengthsman Grant.

Wheels for Alex

HAVE BOMA WILL TRAVEL

We all worked so hard last year to raise money for Alex to have his Boma (off road all terrain wheelchair), so a year on I thought it was timely to give you an update on how it all is!

As Alex says, "Its not whether we are going out on the Boma, it's 'where' we go today on the Boma." and for that he is SO appreciative.

The Boma has changed Alex's life imeasurably and let him do and share so many happy times with his family. Although you may not see Alex on his Boma at the school gates, this all terrain wheelchair has enabled Alex to go on holiday and be mobile in France or Scotland, the lakes to Christmas Tree shopping, in the snow or on the beach, the Boma has enabled Alex to be part of it all.

We should all be incredibly proud of the 'Wheels for Alex' campaign to enable life beyond 4 walls. Many thanks again for all your support, enjoy the photos.

Vicar's Letter...

He's one of us!

So your little spacecraft catches the top of a xylon tree, and crashes with a terrifying splintering into the thick undergrowth. There you lie, half in and half out of your cockpit, trapped and in great pain, breathing the strange air of planet Eremos.

Hours later you hear a rustling in the bushes; something heading your way in a hurry, beating back the undergrowth. Could this be help? But what kind of rescuer could you expect on this strange planet? What kind of creature is approaching? Even if it wants to help will it talk your language, will it understand what you need, will it know how to help you?

What a relief then to see the bushes part and a man appear. It's an earthling! He looks like you. He's dressed as you are. He calls out, "Are you alright? Hold on there!" Here's someone who understands human bones and blood, and cries and tears, someone who knows what you need. He's one of us!

When God comes to rescue men and women how does he come? As an alien being? As one of the other creatures he has made – perhaps a strong lion or a friendly dolphin? No, he comes as a man. Jesus is God in the flesh – but it is human flesh. He's one of us!

Why does this matter? Because the rescue cannot succeed otherwise. We human beings have got ourselves and our world into the mess that we're in. A human being must get us out, but there is no man on earth who can do this – we're all trapped and injured in the wreck of our spaceship.

So God becomes man. Jesus is the man who lives the life that all men should live but none do. Jesus is the man who takes on himself God's just punishment of the rebellion of all men. Jesus is the man who goes where no man has been able to go before, breaking through death and emerging victorious on the other side with the prototype new life that can never be destroyed.

And he does all this for his brothers; it is his rescue mission to fellow human-beings.

The rescuer has arrived and he's one of us!

Happy Christmas!

Teddy Times News

The Teds come and go throughout the year to needy children around the world.

My main outlet is through International Aid Trust, and this year they have taken the teddies to Africa.

Remember the slogan: "They are made with love, to bring love, to be loved."

Thank you so much for those involved in this project. There will sadly always be a need for teddies. Why not knit a Teddy or scarf this winter and bring joy and happiness to a child.

Beetham PROBUS Club

The 40th Anniversary and Ladies' Luncheon of the Club was celebrated at the Heaves Hotel, Levens, on 6 November. With Malcolm Armstrong in the chair, the members and guests enjoyed a four-course luncheon followed by a light-hearted quiz based on events of 1974. The whole event and the quiz were organised by Tony Parker of Heversham as his 'swan-song' on his retirement as the Club's secretary.

BURTON AMATEUR DRAMATIC SOCIETY

It has been a year since the BADS production of Calendar Girls and, unfortunately, over the past year we have struggled to get everyone together at the same time to put on another play but we have managed it and our next, long-awaited, production will be two one-act plays with a hotpot supper.

We have welcomed back Hilary King, who will direct a play called "After the Flags and Bands" by Allan Williams, a play remembering WW1 on this the 100 year anniversary, and a play specially written for us which is so new it doesn't have a title as yet, which gets its premier in Burton before we perform it as our entry into the 2015 All England Play Festival in March, directed by Ian Stokes. Due to technical reasons we will be performing both plays in the school hall, a new venue for us.

So to recap, two one-act plays with Hotpot Supper, Friday 30 and Saturday 31 January, 7.30pm, Burton Morewood School Hall. Tickets will be on sale from Monday 5 January from the Village Store, keep an eye open for our posters which will also give a Box Office number.

We look forward to seeing you there.

Holme & District Local History Society "Our Soldiers"

Holme and District Local History Society held an Exhibition in Burton and Holme in October and November to commemorate local soldiers from Burton-in-Kendal, Holme and Beetham who were involved in World War One. The Society received a grant of £4,900 from the National Lottery Heritage Fund to cover the cost of the exhibition and the production of three books about the soldiers.

The Society's three archive keepers, Kath Hayhurst (Burton), Geoff Pegg (Holme) and Dorothy Spencer (Beetham) collaborated to research around 280 soldiers and the books focus on their family histories, army service records where available, and the final resting places of those who died. A considerable number of photographs of the men have also been assembled. Although a great deal of information has been found, the files on the soldiers will never close because information comes to light on a regular basis.

The entries in the books give fascinating glimpses into the lives of the soldiers. For example, in Beetham Soldiers of the First World War there is the story of Private Robert Hudson of the 8th Battalion of the Border Regiment. He was born in Hexham, Northumberland, in 1896, the son of James and Mary Hudson. By the time the war started, though, Robert was living with his parents in Sandside where his father was the proprietor of Dixies lodging house. He enlisted in Kendal in September 1914 aged 19. A year later he was sent to France and by the December of 1915 he had been wounded with a bullet to the chest and spine. The War Office confirmed that Robert was in the General Hospital in Boulogne, but that he was dangerously ill and that relatives would be able to visit him as soon as possible at public expense. James and Mary wired immediately and Mary confirmed that she wished to visit Robert, but the next day she received a wire stating that Robert had already died. Despite this James and Mary embarked on 6 January, 1916, en route for Boulogne to go and say farewell to their son.

One of the Burton-in-Kendal Soldiers of the First World War is Sergeant Fred Bainbridge. He was born in Burton in 1894, the son of George and Ellen Bainbridge. Before the war he was a newspaper clerk. His army service records appear to have been lost in the fire at the records office in the Second World War, but while he was serving he put his journalistic skills to good use by writing letters to the Westmorland Gazette on a regular basis. They told of his adventures as a sergeant with the British South African Police Service Column, taken off policing duties to go and fight the Germans in Central Africa. The following passage gives a flavour of his reports which can be found in full in the book: 21st, August, 1915 - I left headquarters last Monday with 150 men. We are going to Central Africa, on our North-Eastern Borders, to give the German troops up there "What-ho!" We are camping there for a few days right on the banks of the Zambesi River, in the centre of a gorgeous palm grove, and only 16 miles from the Victoria Falls. We are only waiting for our 1,200 native carriers to be fixed up, then we move off for Broken Hill, and here we begin our 600 mile walk through the tropical regions. God knows what hardships we'll have to go through. Of course our 'King and Country' needs us even in these wild parts, and we will willingly sacrifice everything."

In each of the books there are tales of tragedy, but in Holme Soldiers of the First World War the tale of George Washer epitomises the story of an ordinary young man lost in the horror of the trenches. At the outbreak of the war George was 23 years old. He worked at Holme Mill as a weaver, but he led a full life with a particular interest and talent in the sporting arena. He was a very useful rugby player for Holme Wanderers and Westmorland County, as well as being a runner with Holme

Harriers and a keen cyclist. He was amongst the first of the men to enlist into the Border Regiment in Kendal in September 1914 and was sent to France as part of the British Expeditionary Force a year later. He had only been at the front for a month when he was wounded in the arm and sent back to England to recover. But he was soon back in action and ended up with A Company of the 8th Battalion, Border Regiment. His friend, Harry Warwick, wrote to George's parents to explain what happened next: "Again I am called upon to write you at your son's request, but this time I have worse news to tell you; in fact the very worst. George was killed in a great charge we had on the morning of July 3rd (1916). He was shot through the heart just as he reached the German lines, so was killed instantly. I would have written to you earlier but could not as we have been in the thick of the fighting for a fortnight, so we were not allowed to write letters."

The books mentioned are available now in both print and PDF versions.

Travellers' Tales

An occasional series of travel commentaries from around the world...

India gets under your skin

Our first visit to India, in 2011, involved two amazing cycling trips. The Indians didn't understand this at all. We're white westerners, who could obviously afford to travel by car, so why did we travel by bike? The concept of cycling for pleasure just doesn't compute in India!

Our first trip was round Rajasthan, visiting the golden triangle. We learned so much about the history of this once-advanced country, beginning to understand how the extravagance of their rulers ultimately brought about their own downfall: a powerful lesson for us all! We couldn't help but wonder at the contrast between the heaving cities and the subsistence farming in the countryside. The driving is interesting too: they obviously believe in re-incarnation! Fortunately our cycling route was largely on quiet back roads through the countryside.

We then made our way south, to Mysore, where we picked up our second cycle trip, through Kerala to Varkala. The contrast with the first trip was so stark that it didn't feel like the same country. Kerala is full of coconut palms and feels more like a Caribbean Island than India: of course it is in the Tropics, surprisingly close to the Equator. It's obviously relatively wealthy too, despite or because of its having the only democratically-elected communist Government in the world. Education is a key to its wealth because many Keralans work abroad, often in IT and often in the Middle East, and send a lot of money back home.

We thought we'd "done" India after our fantastic 6-week trip but then, in 2013, we were invited to a family wedding, ironically in Varkala. Memories of India were still strong, and we felt a powerful desire to return, but to travel differently. We flew to Chennai (Madras) and spent the next five amazing weeks travelling round Tamil Nadu and Kerala on ordinary public buses and trains, largely making up the trip as we went along. We met real Indians everywhere who were universally friendly and unbelievably helpful. People seemed to really appreciate that we were travelling on public transport when we could clearly afford to go by car if we wanted: in bus stations they always made absolutely sure we got on the right bus.

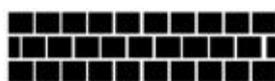

In Mamallapuram we saw the most amazing rock carvings we can imagine anywhere in the world. In Tiruvannamalai, where we seemed to be the only white people in town, we climbed the 800m-high holy Mount Arunachala in 35oC. Pondicherry is controlled by Indian gendarmes. Kodaikanal, up in the cool of the mountains, was full of Indian tourists: we did a 15 mile walk to "suicide point" and back, much to the amusement of the Indians who did the whole trip by bus. In Munnar we were cut off by floods, but still experienced the vast tea plantations, for which the terroir is every bit as important as it is for wine. In Kanyakumari, right on the tip of India, we discovered that it's the Indian tourists who buy all the seaside "souvenirs" that we always assumed were designed for western tourists. In Varkala we discovered that a Hindu wedding involves a lot of eating, a lot of waiting around, and an awful lot of lemons.

Religion, or superstition, are central features of Indian life. We met a lot of Hindus who live their lives perfectly normally, but observe the Hindu rituals "just in case." In that respect it's not a lot different from many other countries. What confused us is the sheer number of deities there are in Hinduism: you seem to choose which deity you want to follow, although some are far more popular than others. As one Hindu said to us "it takes more than one lifetime to understand Hinduism."

Apart from the people, what really got under our skin was the food. Each region of India has its own delicious cuisine. We made a conscious decision to eat largely vegetarian food on the basis that rotten meat can easily be disguised in a curry. We ate a lot of street food, where the food is cooked in front of you. We researched restaurants carefully, eating mainly where the better-off locals ate. In our two trips we were pleased that neither of us got any "Delhi belly."

We will go back again one day, but in the meantime there is a very big world out there to explore.

Roger Reports...

from the District & County Councils

In both the county and district councils we are facing the challenge of trying to meet the coalition Government's requirements to reduce our spending to avoid any increase in Council Tax, which has been stabilised for the last four years. Currently 44% of Cumbria's income comes from the Government's Revenue Support Grant, which will reduce to 39% in 2016/17 and 35% in 2017/18, so the remainder of 59% will have to come from the 'rates' except for a slight rise in income of 6%. The latter source has already caused the biggest rows by e.g. the introduction of on-street parking charges. By 2018 the county will cut its spending by £213m (we were once nearly £1000m equivalent to £1000 per head of population.) This has been achieved principally by cutting staff by 3000 down to 7,000 (excluding schools) but CCC needs to make a further £83m of savings over the next three years, of which £30m will be in 2015/16 and £13m has yet to be found. Most people might instinctively agree with proposed cuts in bureaucracy to save £350m until their specific service is cut, or attention to the public slows down as in road repairs and the processing of planning applications. Although most staffing cuts have been achieved through voluntary redundancy (which has its own costs) I have pointed out that loss of earning income will effect the economies of areas like Carlisle and Kendal where many council employees live. Some proposed cuts will be emotive. I recall when I was Chairman of the council being inundated by opposition to replace night time professional cover at Kendal Fire Station by volunteer retained fire fighters, who already most efficiently cover rural areas like ours. I even heard an intercession in church praying that Cumbria County Council would relent and so save people from 'being burnt alive in their beds.' But the economies were made to provide extra income for fire safety measures like home safety installation of free smoke alarms so that fire casualties dropped. Please let me know your budget thoughts or write to Free Post NWW 6059A, Budget Consultation Lonsdale Building, The Courts, Carlisle, CA3 8NA.

Meanwhile county Cabinet's Member for Schools has reported on an initiative to provide food waste digesters and food composters across the county. I'll let you what this means and how successful the counting of worms aspect of the experiment will have been.

Although SLDC is as much concerned about budgets as the county it has alleviated our worries about finance with some good news about the district. The crime rate has fallen by 14%, to become the seventh lowest in England. Employment is above local and regional levels, but male weekly earnings are low, at an average of £420 per week compared to Cumbria and England's percentage of about £520 pw. Unfortunately the aim to provide affordable homes has not quite reached its target of 70 new properties but we have, at 44%, one of the nation's highest re-cycling rates. 93% of households who experienced a trial of cardboard and plastic recycling in Kendal appreciated the service and think it should be extended. It is hoped to extend recyclables collection to all households by 2019.

Finally in an unpublicised report the district Cabinet appears to have abandoned its attempt to remove Kendal's free car park at New Road. I am asking for confirmation of the saving of this useful facility for rural commuters.

'HEARTY' WARTIME FESTIVITIES - 1914

Contrary to predictions made when hostilities began with Germany in August 1914 the war was not over by Christmas. Though, in Burton as elsewhere, the departure of young men to the forces left 'aching hearts around vacant chairs in many a home' Christmas and New Year festivities followed the peace-time pattern. Even so a startling innovation was made when, following the enlistment of two (male) members, Burton Parish Church's bell ringers were 'augmented by ladies who having received instruction in the art and after careful practice were enabled to take part in the old custom of announcing the death of the old year and in welcoming the birth of the new year.' Earlier the church choir had 'perambulated the village visiting the principal residences and sung a selection of carols and other seasonal hymns.'

On Christmas Day there were 29 communicants at 8am Holy Communion. The 10.30 morning service, conducted by the vicar, the Rev Gilbert Monks, 'contained well known settings of psalms and canticles which were heartily sung by the congregation.'

The singing of the choir was all that could be desired in the anthem "Behold I Bring" and the solo was sung beautifully by Miss R. Eccles and the music was generally of a festal character.' New Year's Day services had to be cancelled owing 'to the indisposition of the vicar' but on the previous Sunday 'the intercessory service and sermon were conducted by the Rev R W Taylor.'

For the children 'the annual capital tea consisting of the usual fare prepared by Mrs Dobson' and provided by the Squire, Major Hornby of Dalton Hall, was held in the Morewood School Room. After it 'had been disposed of came the distribution of prize books given by Major Hornby to the day school and by several ladies and gentleman to the Sunday School.' Among donors present were Mrs Shorland-Ball, Mrs Cosgrave and Mrs Monks - the Vicar being still 'indisposed'. After 'hearty cheers were rendered to Major Hornby and the donors the room was cleared for games and dancing which were heartily enjoyed by all. Patriotic songs were sung - heartily - to the pianoforte accompaniment of Mrs Corrie. Illuminated text boards were provided for those children who were unable to secure prizes. At the close each child received an orange on leaving the room' - heartily refreshed!

Clawthorpe's Snowy Crows

Earlier this year, in May, we noticed 3 large white birds in the field, next to our house in Clawthorpe. From a distance we assumed they were seagulls, or perhaps doves, but as time went on we realised they were actually Crows!

I contacted the RSPB who informed me that it was rare to see a white Crow and exceptionally rare to see a family of 3, especially as they did not appear to be pink-eyed albinos. Over the next five months it was our privilege to see them on a daily basis, accompanied and fed by their dedicated parents.

They were very timid and difficult to photograph close up, but I did manage to snap one as it approached our bird table at 5am one morning in June.

They often lined up on the telephone wire in front of the house and I got a shot of all three, (I have numerous photos of the family altogether but they are all in the distance.)

Sometimes the family of 5 would just fly around together, soaring and swooping, seemingly just enjoying life, and the fun of flight. It was a pleasure to watch them.

I did not report on this rare trio earlier, as I did not want to attract any would-be trophy hunters for fear the birds might fall into the hands of a taxidermist (as a single one did last year.)

Sadly we have not seen this special family since 18 October (the first day of the local shoot)!

Folksy Theatre bring the Charles Dickens classic to life in this brand new adaptation, with live performers, puppetry, music and multimedia, the production brings something a little different to this much loved text. Folksy use a great mix of high energy, truthful performance, audience interaction and outright silliness to make their Christmas Carol a theatre experience to be remembered.

Friday 12 December

Film: THE INVISIBLE WOMAN

(2013) [12A] - 1 hour 51 mins

Director: Ralph Fiennes

Cast: Ralph Fiennes, Felicity Jones, Kristin Scott Thomas

At the height of his fame and trapped in a loveless marriage, with a wife whom he clearly despises, Charles Dickens falls in love with a young actress called Nelly Turnan (Felicity Jones). They embark on a passionate affair but because of Dickens' celebrity and the mores of Victorian England her role as a mistress is never acknowledged. For a number of years, because the affair is kept secret, Nelly leads a life of invisibility and years later she looks back on this period with guilt and remorse.

Friday 19 December

Theatre: A Victorian Christmas

Admission: £12, U18s: £5, Members: £10

A fun and festive celebration of the Yuletide our ancestors would have known. Acclaimed historical entertainment company, Blast From The Past, provide an evening of music, song, stories and drama from the time of Dickens and Hardy. They invite you to join them in favourite carols as well as introducing you to more obscure, but no less beautiful, festive songs from the 19th century. There's a Christmas tale of the Court of King Arthur – a figure revived in the Victorian era by Scott and Tennyson, with damsels in distress, deeds of chivalry, an epic quest and of course a happy ending.

Friday 9 January

Film: GRAND BUDAPEST HOTEL

(2014) [15] - 1 hour 44 mins

Director: Wes Anderson

Cast: Ralph Fiennes, F.Murray Abraham, Mathieu Amalric

The film recounts the adventures of Gustave H (Ralph Fiennes), a legendary concierge at a preposterous luxury European hotel between the wars, and Zero Mustafa (Tony Revoloni) the lobby boy who becomes his most trusted friend. It is a hugely entertaining farce stuffed full of bizarre character studies and brilliantly crafted by Anderson with his typical ingenuity and obsessive attention to detail. Ralph Fiennes is a revelation as Monsieur Gustave and gives one of his finest performances.

Editorial...

No January...

As usual BN doesn't drop through your letterbox in January, but despite doing this for several years we still get asked whether there will be an August issue and where's the January one! Copy date for our next issue will be 20th Jan for the Feb issue.

Thanks a million...

To all BN's dedicated distributors who plod the streets of Burton 11 times a year to bring BN to you, we couldn't do this without you.

A Plea!!!

From your editors this time. Please would you submit items as plain text files instead of as Word documents, Excel spreadsheets, PDF and Publisher documents, etc, all of which give us a lot of extra work extracting the contents, stripping out the formatting and changing it to the format we use.

Images should be sent as attachments rather than embedded in such documents as that gives better results from the printer. Straight from the camera images are fine, as that lets us shrink them to the size needed without loss of definition or quality. If they are big either send one per email, or drop us an email as we have a DropBox account where larger files can be sent which gets round the size limits on some mailboxes.

Merry Christmas!

The last word this year is from us wishing all our readers, advertisers and supporters a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and a special thank you for all the support given to us by the Editorial Committee (current and past members) throughout the year.
