Dear Burton News

Thanks from The Tannery

Individuals with complex disability and differences, despite their desire to be involved, are challenged daily on many levels in fully engaging with community life, but can I say through these pages that it's great to live in a village that offers a wide variety of activities that we can link into on some level, whilst experiencing community support on another. Last year we managed to enter and join in the fun of the parade,

(the team did a great job of decorating the wheelchair) and this year we hope to give you a run for your money in entering some of the classes at the local events.

As you know we were knocked out by the response last year to our request for villagers to recycle any spare plant pots to our garden project, and I would like to say a huge thank you to the many who responded and kindly dropped some off at our gates, or offered us other contributions for the project. For those using social networks you can follow our progress with the garden project on our Facebook page Tannery Garden Project.

On the back of the plant pot success, I just wondered if villagers had any small offcuts of wood loitering unloved in the garage or shed they would like to recycle our way? Building onto the garden success, we have now created a small workshop and are creating and crafting bird boxes and other items for the garden.

Any support, as ever, is greatly appreciated, and once again thanks to those unsung heroes who put all the effort into running these events, they are greatly appreciated by many.

Best wishes
Carole Cliffe, The Tannery

On 2 April Royal Mail will change their postage costs.

The Good News

1st and 2nd class letter and large letter stamps will NOT change in price. There will be very little change to the cost of stamps for letters to international destinations.

However, the pricing structure for parcels will change. Postage costs will depend on both the weight and size of the parcel, since both of these impact upon the costs of collecting, transporting and delivering it.

If you require the detailed information and prices, please come to the post office counter and ask one of us for advice

THANKS!

Jim and Beryl Moorby

We are finding it difficult to express in words our thanks and appreciation for the practical assistance, the visits, enquiries, the cards and numerous telephone calls received during our recent bouts of ill health. They all reinforced our view that Burton-in-Kendal is a very caring village in which to live. Our sincere thanks go to all our neighbours and friends in Burton.

NEW BABY!

Nick and Bev are delighted to announce the safe arrival of Timothy Dennis Witham on the 20 February. Huge thanks to my sister Kelsey and my friend Tracy for taking care of Sophie and getting me to hospital in time, and thanks everyone for your cards, gifts and messages.

Outdoors

White, white, white - every colour moment a month ago seemed to be white. Snowdrop buds and flowers. Snowflakes, some small as sparrow-down, some big as a butterfly's wing, drifting about on the wind from across the Pennines. On clear days, cottony clouds on the blue like the painted ones at the start of The Simpsons. White of sheep's fleeces and the snowy flare of a swan's wings flying high above the canal and sheering off westward near Holme. Above and beyond them all, like phantoms of the last Ice Age, swathes of snowfield shine out on the high fells to the north - Rainsborrow up Kentmere, Fairfield beyond Windermere, Pavey Ark in Langdale. Sometimes they shimmer mirage-like through wintry haze, sometimes they stand out as clear and abrupt as Alps in Switzerland.

Still more whites are waiting to gleam out - once the sugary glaze of rime has gone from the little green hearts of celandine leaves and the winter-wizened bramble foliage. Magnolia buds look imminent - always surprisingly early for so decorative and exotic a shrub. Blackthorn leaf-buds are opening on the Boon Walks path (first seen on February 25.) Soon their flowers will be out, like snow-showers caught amongst twigs and leafage. They are all sparks of cold fire from a sun which is recovering its power after that gloomy time between the two equinoxes. Now less-icy whites can begin to shine out - the waxy candles of magnolia flowers, the may blossom which looks as though the hawthorn hedges have been sprayed with cream. White remains a northern look and a cold one (all right, Antarctica is fairly white too.) Vivid colours belong to the tropics, to tigers and mandrills, peacocks and birds-of-paradise. In our snow latitudes animals can even turn white for camouflage. On the high sub-Arctic moors of the Cairngorms I've seen ptarmigan so blached in their winter plumage that they're almost invisible; then they startle off into the fog like outsize snowballs. The hares, too, turn white to blend in with the snowfields and when they sprint off over brown heather in, say, late April, they look too noticeable for their own good. The only polar bear I ever saw had the same problem - with no predator big enough to endanger it. It was squatting miserably on a coastal reef one August, on the west shore of Hudson Bay. These bears go hungry when the sea ice melts because seals are no longer forced to surface at breathing-holes where the bears can lie in wait for them. I was staying in Churchill. A woman of

An Opinion...

Commenting on the goings-on at the Parish Council meetings

Annual General Meeting
- it's here again

Guest speaker – Ms Lorraine Smyth
Subject: Voluntary Action with Communities in Cumbria

Long titles for speeches are an ominous sign. It occurred to An Opinion that an apter version of Ms Smyth's speech might have been "Cumbersome Action with Communities." The talk by Ms Smyth centred round the newly-established Neighbourhood Planning process, which will impact on planned development in the village.

Communities will bear the brunt of this dream-child, still in its infancy and so far untested. It seemed to A.O. that this was a new sort of Monopoly devised for maximum irritation. The county or district councils make up the rules, and they go something like this: "We give you lots of houses (or hotels, if you behave yourselves), and you might be allowed to put them where you want on the board. But there are lots of rules before you can even begin to play, and whatever you do, you can't win. If you behave and all the players agree, we might let you have a station or two. The Community Chest will be in our hands, and we aren't going to tell you when we're dealing out the odd card. There isn't exactly a Go To Jail card yet. But if you don't stick to the rules we might think about that. If things get out of hand, we may have to do a re-think and introduce a few more rules. No, you certainly cannot make up a few yourselves. We're in charge." As if an elder brother has reluctantly been left to baby sit his annoying little cousins who have no idea whatsoever about Monopoly, and have never played before, but have to do as he says because he's older than they are.

Ms Smyth was enthusiastic about the plan, and had most of its details at her fingertips. Readers of this column will not have gained much enlightenment from A.O.'s comparison, but it is recommended that, as ever, it's better to read the Clerk's synopsis where more accurate, and probably fairer, detail is available. In any case it's likely that Burton PCllrs will have to accept the plan which clearly involves them in a lot more administration etc, and which includes the necessity of a village Referendum to achieve any aims they might put forward. And it incidentally may be the cause of them taking the flak if any of their suggestions, when carried out, go pear-shaped. Our PCllrs are remarkable in that most of them already undertake heavy voluntary responsibilities, both within and outside their PC duties. This scheme, if it is implemented will be another burden, and it can only be hoped that Ms Smyth's enthusiasm is well-founded. At the end of her talk, the PCllrs asked more questions than usual, which mostly were well-parried by the speaker, though she admitted that since the scheme was only in its infancy, some answers were at the moment unknowable. The talk lasted quite a long time, and the Chairman thanked her for her clear explanations.

Chairman's Annual Report

The Chairman of the Parish Council, PCllr Mike Taylor, read his report documenting the activities and accomplishments of the PC over the year. (This may be read in full on the PC website.) In conclusion he thanked PCllrs for the work they had done in the past year. He gave particular thanks to Parish Clerk Peter Smith for his help and support. The Parish Council, he said, was well-financed and ran like a well-oiled machine.

Police Report – A New Face

The PCllrs welcomed PCSO Karen Dakin, one of the two new PCSOs in the area. She gave her report re incidents occurring in Burton in the last month:

1. Diesel had been syphoned from a works vehicle in Boon Town.
2. A vehicle window was smashed on St James' Drive and 2 chainsaws stolen.
3. A sat-nav and charger were taken from an insecure vehicle on Hollowrayne.

4. Vehicles had been reported speeding through the village.

Commenting, PCSO Dakin told us that it was the intention to bring the speed radar to the village. She also said that with the agreement of Gill and Akis, arrangements were under way to establish a monthly drop-in point at the shop where villagers can meet with her and PCSO Colman and discuss their concerns. Cold phone calls were also discussed. PCllrs pointed out that often the Telephone Preference system was ignored. We were assured that recently a firm had been heavily fined for flouting it.

The Open Forum closed and PCllrs got down to business:

Tilting at Windmills, Again

As far as A.O. can remember, the PC has always voted down proposals for wind turbines in the area. Till now. But the request for Planning Permission for 75m high turbines at Kelker Well and Whin Yeats got a more reasoned and sympathetic hearing. A PCllr reported that he had ascertained how intrusive they would be in the area, and concluded that they would not impinge on outlooks from Burton, and possibly not from Clawthorpe either. Some of our PCllrs oppose turbines as a matter almost of principle, and still seemed dubious. But one PCllr defended them, on the ground that, apart from providing renewable energy, they were short-lived on the landscape and easily dismantled and do no lasting damage to the environment. Unexpectedly another PCllr spoke up to support him. A vote was taken, and "No objection" was recorded to planning permission. N.B. The chairman announced that National Grid are intending to work on the main North and South power lines that run close to the eastern boundary of the parish. Work will last over the next few weeks.

New Homes Bonus

This grant, for Locally Important Projects, was put forward by a PCllr, with the suggestion that Burton should apply for help with the cost of establishing a footpath north from Burton to Clawthorpe. There might also be the possibility that financial help could also be available for the Rec. Trust.

Renewal of Burton "Quality" Status

The time has come for the renewal subscription for this hard-won accolade. It was generally agreed that it had been a disappointing enterprise. Very little, if any, advantage had been achieved after a lot of hard work. This is a great pity, with SLDC apparently unwilling to delegate any privileges to councils who achieved it. After a pretty disillusioned discussion, it was decided to renew it, though A.O. isn't quite sure what reasons finally triumphed.

Things done - or in the pipeline

1. The 20mph warning lights at the school have been installed, though the lights are not yet working.
2. The milepost is to be removed for restoration.
3. The roundabout in the playground has been taken away to be repaired.
4. Further work is planned for Hutton Close.
5. A response from Highways re blocked culverts is still awaited.
6. Quarry road funds will be spent on improvements on the A6070.
7. The fallen tree on Slape Lane has been removed, and improvements have been made to the surface of the lane, by the efforts of a PCllr.
8. SLDC have swept the roads.
9. The broken-down wall on Ticking (Dicken?) Lane has been repaired.
10. The steps up to the canal on Tarn Lane have been repaired.

Some hopeful Announcements:

1. Grants are available for "suitable projects" from Cumbria Playing Fields Assoc.
2. A Dist Cllr reported that each of our two Dist Cllrs have £2,000 to spend as grant money to their parishes. He intended that £500 would be made available for a suitable project in Burton.

A.S.

BADS NEWS

A Summer Scorcher!

Well you may have guessed after Paula's hints in February that the BADS summer play is Calendar Girls! We decided to join in with hundreds of other amateur groups around the country in an attempt to raise many more millions for Leukaemia Research. Surprisingly, I had no trouble casting the 6 Calendar Girls, which left me wondering, what is this desire to appear nude on a stage? Maybe there is a little "Gypsy" in all of us, including me as I'm one of them, but you will have to wait to see who the others are. However on a more serious note, BADS is trying to use this opportunity to do our own fundraising for local cancer charities, namely St John's Hospice, Macmillan Nurses and Cancercare. We are doing a 3-night run this time and we will be donating at least half of any profits to the charities. We start off at a disadvantage as the license fee to perform the play is £100 for each performance, £300 in total. This money goes directly to Leukaemia Research, but we would like to start our fundraising by asking if there are any local businesses who would like to be our sponsor and donate the licence fee so that this money can go to our local charities too. You may like to sponsor us for one performance, or all three, and in return, you will be listed as our sponsor/s in all our publicity material and in our programme too. If you would like to be a sponsor please do not hesitate to get in touch, 01524 781498 or alysonyates@hotmail.co.uk.

Thursday 27 will be row seating, Friday 28 and Saturday 29 will be cafe-style seating, so bring along your wine and snacks for a thoroughly enjoyable night's entertainment.

No photography allowed during the performance, but we will be selling our own "Calendar Girls ... and boys (if they can be persuaded) Calendar".

Roger Reports... from the district & county councils

The consequences of the councils' Budgets passed at the end of February are being considered. Generally the debates at the county and district councils were not contentious. On the county council the members of the two main parties (with the smaller group abstaining) voted for a nil increase of the Council Tax, and almost all members did so on SLDC. The arguments centred on where the inevitable cuts aka 'efficiency savings' should come. The county council's total Budget of £780m (including the school's budget of £254.374m) from which £22m in savings were achieved. Generally, major services were safeguarded though reduced coalition government funding led to cuts even though the county's contribution was stable.

Extra 'pressures' i.e. spending requiring additional funds included £0.062m for the Coroner's Service, £1m for waste disposal, and £0.050m for concessionary fares. One of my special concerns, libraries also received an extra £200,000. This enabled me to interrupt a speech by Melvin Bragg at the Theatre by The Lake at Keswick, in which he alleged that there was a nationwide closure of libraries, by stating that "No Libraries have been closed in Cumbria." An additional £2m has been allocated for Looked After Children - whose numbers have increased to 600+ with some individual care plans costing £100,000 pa.

On the other hand there has been a reduction of £1m for the careers service which, in response to an enquiry, I was told "reflects the additional responsibility schools will have for the provision of careers advice." Local committee funding has also been reduced by £0.3m so there could be less for parish schemes like playgrounds next year. Happily the annual £1,000 grant I provide for the Burton's lengthsman has been safeguarded for this year at least. Also, despite £0.08m cuts in Highways, some of our lanes will be dressed, but the biggest expenditure in our Lower Kentdale Division will be £184,000 to resurface the A6070 from the Village Shop to Morewood Drive. There will, inevitably, be general repairs in Main Street, plus the flood abatement works on Tanpits Lane and elsewhere. The sunny weather three weeks ago enabled some white-lining to be done; the Boon Town Playground sign and 20 MPH flashing warning in Main Street should now be installed. I have again been told that the remedial work to Hutton Close and Burton Park will be done.

Compared to the county, SLDC's budget of about £20m, of which £7.7m is raised through the Council Tax, is tiny. The combined county and district Council Tax amounts to £1,572.43 for a Band D property. The Police Commissioner's Tax has however gone up by £3.87 per Band D to help meet the Police Budget of £120m.

The district council, in an attractive leaflet, has outlined its aims and successes. A new homes bonus will alleviate for a few families the effect of a median house price rise across the district from £74,000 in 2000 to £208,709 in 2012. But much development will be delayed until the protracted Local Development Framework is published which, I'm told, might still be another year or so.

SLDC aims to boost waste recycling and composting from 44% to 50% by 2015. I was pleased that South Lakeland is encouraging "our culture and wellbeing." Tourism is a bedrock to our economy and income from e.g. car-parking reduces the Council Tax by £2m. Nowadays, cultural events like Brewery Arts, festivals and exhibitions are no longer seen as nice extras, but essential for prosperity.

Finally, I was pleased that council grants to the Sandgate Hydrotherapy Pool in Kendal have been maintained.

The newly refurbished facilities, which I saw on a recent open day, are amongst the best in the North of England. 500 people, generally in hourly sessions for 16 participants, use the centre each week.

All the best and let's enjoy the Spring when and/or if it comes.

Church News...

The process to recruit a new priest-in-charge for the churches of St James Burton and Holy Trinity Holme is underway and the purpose of this short article is to provide an update with further information to follow as the recruitment process progresses and an appointment is made (God willing.)

The timeline for the appointment of a new minister within the Carlisle Diocese is that there is a 12 month interregnum (gap between ministers.) During the early to mid part of this period a number of tasks need completing by the Parochial Church Council (PCC) to inform and enable the recruitment process.

As I write this in mid-March much of the preparatory work has been completed. The two PCCs (Burton and Holme each have their own PCC) are nearing completion of a joint Parish Profile document that provides potential applicants with information in respect of the churches, their finances, congregation numbers and a flavour of the activities undertaken in both villages by the whole community. Alongside this document sits one detailing the job purpose and person specification against which candidates will be assessed at interview.

It is anticipated that the position will be advertised in April / May time, with interviews scheduled to occur at the start of June. Each PCC has elected 2 representatives to sit on the interview panel alongside Bishop Robert and a Simeon Trustee representative.

It is expected that the new priest-in-charge will take up his post in September 2013.

Transport to Church

If anyone will need a lift to either Burton or Holme church, please contact either Colin (01524 781928) or Richard (015395 64239).

Historical Footnote

by Roger Bingham

The "eyebrows of history" 20th Century Burton

Relatively recent commentators have added to a sense of Burton's place in history. Thus in the early 1900s it was said that Burton, having shrunk since its heyday in Georgian coaching days, was currently "sleeping to death." Just before the Second World War the popular author Arthur Mee in his Lakes Counties more or less dismissed Burton as "an old fashioned place on the Lancashire border." He did however note that "it has a spacious square, charming cottages, 18th century houses, one (Burton House) with fine fireplaces and ceilings by Robert Adam." Moreover, he cited a popular fable "a local hawthorn is said to mark the grave of one of Cromwell's horsemen, the village burying him where they found him." In 1949 Norman Nicholson in his County Book paints a brighter picture, except that his illustrations show a grey un-whitewashed architectural scene. Even so, Burton to him resembled scenery. "It is one street. It does not seem to have grown, but to have been planned by an artist. Even the square with a market-cross is intimate and formal, a half-sized set which might be transported to the London stage for an opera. There is a box of a cobbler's shop at the corner so small that it would all go back and front into a fair-sized room. The eyebrows of history hang over the village like the upper rooms of the old house held up by pillars on the pavement." Despite stressing Burton's Olde Worlde charm the persistent modern stress was on the effect of motor transport. Norman conceded that, unlike Milnthorpe, Burton "takes much less traffic, though the amount increases each year; it was from the start, a road-based village it is therefore the better able to stand up to intrusion." (NB I wonder if anyone agreed with him even then!) By the time Alfred Wainwright published his Westmorland Heritage in 1975 the road problems had been alleviated "the weight of modern traffic along the old turnpike road has posed a succession of problems that first the railway, then the A6 and latterly the motorway have greatly relieved, yet the village remains active and busy with local affairs." Norman alone referred to the inhabitants for, historic as the village appeared, he warned "if you try to diddle Burton people you'll soon find whether they are living in the seventeenth century or the present day." Whatever could he have meant?

BURTON PRE-SCHOOL COMMITTEE

From September most of our current committee are standing down, all having been valued members for 3 years or longer. It is vital that the Pre-school has a committee to keep running. We meet once a month and you can get involved in as little or as much as you like. New ideas for fundraisers are always welcome. Our fees are kept at a low level through fundraising. Throughout the year our fundraising committee organises a variety of events, and we rely on the support of parents and the wider community to contribute to make pre-school accessible to everyone in Burton and surrounding areas.

if you are a parent of a child attending or due to attend pre school and are interested in finding out more, please talk to a committee member or a member of staff. We welcome your support and help at any of our upcoming events. You will personally benefit from this experience by meeting with other parents, updating existing skills and learning new ones, as well as putting something positive back into your local community.

Our AGM will be held in September, we look forward to seeing some new faces as we say goodbye to those standing down.

HOLME PARK QUARRY LOCAL NATURE RESERVE

<http://naturereserve.burtonweb.org.uk>

We are very lucky in this area to have such beautiful countryside and especially fortunate to have so many Nature Reserves on the doorstep. One of these is Holme Park Quarry Local Nature Reserve which is run by a local committee and may be accessed from Clawthorpe Lane. It is always open and you are welcome to wander in there to enjoy this limestone area, or to go up to the viewing point to get a bird's eye view into Holme Park Quarry. The committee is always keen to encourage local residents to join them in looking after the reserve and to help monitor the flora and fauna found there.

A Butterfly Transect is done each year to identify and record the population of butterflies, some of which are very specific to limestone and are nationally rare. We are keen to encourage anyone with an interest, but not necessarily expertise, to accompany our 'butterfly man' when he does his walk round the reserve this summer. If you are interested in this, or have any other interest, or would just like to help in any other way please contact the reserve manager on 01524 782198.

Burton W.I. NEWS

At their meeting on the 14 March, Burton WI enjoyed an insider's (Sue Mulvaney) secrets of just how the beautiful copies of the Crown Jewels were produced by the WI Federation for the flower festival held in Kendal Parish Church to celebrate the Queen's Jubilee. Sue made her talk doubly interesting by giving us a potted history of the real jewels. The competition for a favourite piece of jewellery was won by Joyce Bye, Alice Wood came second. Margaret Carr won the raffle.

The next meeting will be on Thursday 11 April when Tom Attwood will be giving a talk about Halecat Nursery. The competition is a favourite garden tool.

The WI Federation Spring Walks will take place on Saturday 27 April from Burton Memorial Hall, from 10am.

With three walks to choose from, a long walk of 8 miles through Dalton Woods to the Trigg Point on Hutton Roof Crag then onto the Crown of Farleton with wonderful views all around. An easier walk of 4 miles towards Dalton passing an ancient Stone Circle then on towards Clawthorpe Hall. For those who want to stroll around the village of Burton. WI member Kath Hayhurst will take us on a very interesting historical walk covering events from the 10th Century. Coffee and biscuits will be served from 10am. Long walkers should bring their own lunch. Other refreshments will be available when walkers return.

The cost is £3.50 payable on the day. So that we have an idea of the numbers attending please advise Eileen Kirby accordingly. Tel: 01524 782272 no later than 19 April. Family and friends welcome. (Please wear suitable footwear, and note that dogs are not permitted on the walks.)
