PC Observations...

Reporting from the Parish Council meeting

I looked up August 2014's observations to see the similarities with the August 20th 2015 meeting and noticed how slowly things move in the PC World. The footpath to Clawthorpe from 'downtown' Burton was discussed in August 2014 but still has no resolution for example. Not even an acknowledgement from County Council that they are considering it despite £7000 being spent on a feasibility study. Why aren't our Councillors jumping up and down about this? Jane Hopwood called it disgraceful but there is a sense of powerlessness about the Council's ability to influence the Highways Department and Roger Bingham can only prod and probe to try and get action. Presumably a letter will be sent.

Amongst this month's planning applications, a plan to build a single large wind turbine on land to the west of Green Dragon Farm near the M6 was objected to on grounds of visual impact for villagers and also the potential impact on other types of land use in that area. The objection was by a majority, not unanimous.

Another plan generated an interesting debate. Councillors were not sure whether they agreed or disagreed with plans to build a two-story building in the garden of Ashgrove at Clawthorpe. An impassioned intervention by Mike Taylor was crucial. 'We cannot just object to everything', he argued. 'That area of Clawthorpe is a commercial area now – why should we object?' Councillors eventually agreed 'in principle' but wanted issues of road safety and the type of construction to be carefully considered, especially because the corner of the access road from Clawthorpe onto the A6070 is a concern.

On a similar point, Brian Duckett in the Open forum open to the public had earlier introduced an outline plan to change the entrance at the Clawthorpe Business Park to improve safety. This was unanimously supported by Councillors. The recent road re-surfacing near Clawthorpe on the A6070 was questioned but Brian explained that the reason was that the previous surface had been 'lethal' in wet weather with many accidents.

Other discussions included:

1. Vandals had caused damage to two swings on the playground, requiring £175 of Council money to put right. Other police activity had included minor accidents, an arrest of a person for a drugs offence and a motor cyclist who had collided with a sheep.

2. A proposal for a solar farm in Cinderbarrow Lane, Priest Hutton was noted but since it could not be seen from Burton, no comment was required.

3. A Budget Working Party for 2015/16 planning was set up

4. Councillor reports included updates from Roger Bingham on District and County deliberations including the continuing of special measures for the Children's Department. Peter Smith was concerned (as were all Councillors) about a planned solar installation at Hutton Roof because of HGV traffic causing disruption on Dalton Lane when other access routes to the site were available. Paul Rogers noted that Slape Lane had finally been cleared. Mike Taylor suggested that the Burton Emergency Plan be regularly updated to check on contact numbers and resources. Moira Rowley reported a fire in a vehicle on Boon Town and the difficulty that fire tenders had in reaching it because of parked cars. This could happen in other drives around Burton as well. Whatever happened to the Church Bank Gardens planning application? No news yet of it even coming up for discussion at SLDC. And dog poo? How is the campaign going? Wait and see next month! Next meeting Thursday 17 September at 7.30pm in the Memorial Hall.

Refuse & Recycling Collection Services

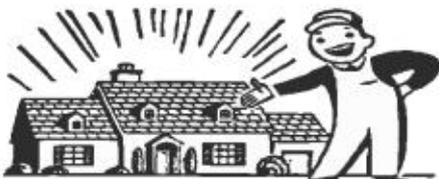

From 21 September SLDC will be making changes to their refuse and recycling services in Burton. The changes will include the collection of plastics and cardboard, alongside the existing glass, paper and green waste.

There may be a change to either the day of collection or the time the collectors come, we will not know this until closer to the start date.

In early September every household will receive a green envelope from SLDC giving the new day and time details. The information will also be available on the SLDC website, on their social media channels, and from Council Contact Centre staff directly.

Vicar's Letter...

Who does he think he is?

So what does your surname mean? Perhaps it indicates what an ancestor of yours did for a living (Smith or Farmer) or where he lived (Wood or Lancaster) or who his father was (Johnson or McDonald). But Christ is not a surname like those; it is a royal title, like Elizabeth 'Regina' (or 'Reg' as it is inscribed on the coins in your pocket) which means, of course, 'Queen'.

The arrival of 'The Christ' was eagerly anticipated, an honest and noble King sent from God who would replace the selfish, unjust and destructive rule of their average human leader. At first it did not seem that Jesus of Galilee deserved such a title: he was born in morally suspect circumstances to an ordinary family, he had no political or military training and by the age of 30 he was still an unknown. But Mark begins his account of Jesus boldly: "The beginning of the gospel about Jesus Christ, the Son of God" and very quickly he is showing us how this 'travelling preacher' is behaving like a King with authority.

Jesus commands people to down tools and join him and they obey him. He confronts the demon-possessed and the demons obey him. He goes to those who are sick and dying and the diseases obey him. He proves that he has God's authority to forgive sin and, when he and his friends are about to be drowned at sea, he commands the wind and waves and they obey him too. And all the time people are asking "Who is this? Who is this who has such authority?" Peter is the first to dare to speak what others have only wondered, "You are the Christ".

When was the last time you read the early pages of one of the Gospels and asked yourself the question, "Who is this? How do I account for this man?" You must have a Bible on a shelf somewhere that you can dust off, or perhaps you would like to read with some others in a small group where questions can be discussed. If that's you, let me know and I'll tell you about a group that you can join.

Sincerely

Graham

Historical Footnote...

... by Roger Bingham

Burton just after the First World War

In 1921 publication was resumed of Kelly's Annual Directory for Westmorland, which had been suspended during the First World War. As with pre-war directories it indicated that Burton was still a busy, work-a-day place. Even so the recorded population figures showed that the population of 521 was stagnant compared with the figures for 1901 of 578, 517 for 1911 and for 1931 of 528 which, indeed, were very much less than the 1871 census return of 800 people. The figures for Dalton were 101 in 1901, 108 for 1911 and 103 in 1931.

In the Directory's commercial section, agriculture was well to the fore although only three farmers, William Woof at Clawthorpe Hall, James Dixon at Dalton Old Hall, and Anthony Dixon at Russell Farm, Dalton had more than 150 acres in hand. Smaller famers included Clarkson Atkinson at New Mills (Ewan Mill), William Burtholme who was also assistant overseer of the poor and rate collector, William Clark and Son at Clawthorpe, Dickinson Brothers at Sandy Gap, John Dickinson at Oakwood, John Thomas Fell at Moss House, Leonard Hoggarth at Ley Pits, John Metcalf at Deerslet, Thomas Ridding at Cragg House, Dalton, Thomas Wildman at Bell House, Dalton and William Wilkinson & Sons at Henridding.

Specialist producers included Thomas Rider - market gardener, two poultry 'breeders' William Barran and Richard Makinson, while Robert Wilkinson was registered as 'farm bailiff to E. G. S. Hornby, esq.'

Trades people included Thomas Atkinson & Son and William Crayston boot makers, George Bainbridge and Adam Bell stone masons, and George Braithwaite, joiner, while, harking back to earlier times, George Dobson was a wheelwright. Several lady shop-keepers included Margaret Murray, The Misses Sarah and Mary Bell, Elizabeth Watson, grocer, and Sarah Rider, corn and flour dealer. Other suppliers were John Hartley, grocer, and George Pennell, butcher.

Burton had three inns: Robert Robinson, a farmer, was the Green Dragon's landlord, but The Royal and the King's Arms both had landladies, respectively Mesdames Robinson and Titterington. Yet, because her works figure in family and local history displays, Burton's most memorable business lady of 1921 was Mrs Beatrice Corless - a photographer.

BURTON MEMORIAL HALL

Firstly, a big thank you to the small band of volunteers who gave some time to helping repaint large parts of the Hall through the Summer holidays. By doing this ourselves we are able to save the hundreds of pounds it would cost the Hall to employ a professional decorator to do the work. Just a couple of hours each over several evenings has made a huge difference. There are still a few jobs which need tackling, so if anyone would like to come along and help please do. You'll be made very welcome. Give Nic a call on 784977.

We have a busy fund-raising schedule lined up for the rest of the year. Our annual CraftMarket is taking place over the weekend of 17/18 October, 10am-4pm both days, and will have crafters selling their wares in the main Hall, there will be kids' crafts with Zoe up on the stage, whilst in the Reception Room Rachel and her fab vintage tearoom will be with us once more serving the best home-made snacks, cakes and drinks.

We are also appealing for you to make mobiles again to decorate both the inside and outside of the Hall. Last year you did us proud, with more than 70 mobiles made by children and adults. So please will you do it again this year? It can be any style you like, use recycled materials if you want: yogurt pots, sticky back plastic and old CDs aren't just for Blue Peter kids! They can be brought to the Hall on Mon 28 Sep between 7pm - 7.30pm, or they can be dropped off at 4 Drovers Way in the afternoon of Sat 10 or Sun 11 October.

If any crafters wants to sell at CraftMarket we do still have a couple of tables available, so call Anne on 781306 if you want one. First come, first served!

We are gathering fabric and clothing for a Blue Bag Collection to raise some more funds for the Hall. If you have any fabric items which you would like to donate please would you call Helen on 782277 for a Blue Bag, which will need to be returned to us before Tues 24 Nov.

Our Christmas Bingo night will be on Thurs 26 November, for which we would welcome any donations of raffle prizes.

On Sat 12 December we are having a Christmas Fair in the main Hall. It will be from 10am - 12 noon, and we will have stalls and festive refreshments, and hopefully a visit from a certain red-clad white-bearded gentleman! Tables are £5 each and can be booked with Nic, Helen or Anne as above.

Roger Reports...

from the District & County Councils

What was technically 'summer', brought road works including the surface dressing of parts of the A6070. With the activity came the usual complaints about road closures, demands for immediate white lining and pleas for other work.

I am continuing to press for footpath repairs on Mowbray Drive and elsewhere and for further 'gully cleansing' and surface water drainage down Neddy Hill, near Bell House Barn, Dalton and on the A6070 near Holme Park.

If rather slowly, the planned roundabout at the Auction Mart is being completed although early worries that congestion on sales days would create problems for Burton commuters have not been as bad as anticipated.

With my colleague, Brian Cooper, we are stressing the need for major highway and footpath work on and around the Church Bank Gardens development site.

Elsewhere the detailed planning permission required for development sites adopted (in the face of much controversy) by SLDC's Local Development Framework is running into difficulties, with a major application in Kendal being turned down. So, even if a site has received outline development approval the community can still have its say on what goes there.

As a member of the county's Development Control Committee I have received objections concerning an application for a wind turbine near Green Dragon. I gather that, although in its election manifesto the government stated that it would oppose on-shore wind farms, individual turbines for isolated rural areas might still be allowed. Please let me know your views.

Meanwhile solar panel 'farms' are being proposed and I have forwarded the concerns of Hutton Roof residents about an application for a Whittington site. I have also been on a site visit for a proposed solar scheme near Penrith, which, as it is well-screened, might be passed.

So far, I have not heard of any local fracking proposals following a rejection of an application for near Blackpool.

On SLDC the most contentious debate on a proposal to have 'all out' district elections once in four years was rejected by the majority party. Thus, we will continue to have elections in thirds, with the county elections in the fourth year, plus the General, European and Police Commissioner elections spread through the cycle. Also the council will stay at 51 members and an idea that there should be three member wards with annual elections in each ward for one member was rejected.

Much passion was roused by criticism of the Government's plan to extend the Right to Buy (introduced by Edward Heath in 1972) to other social housing schemes. I made the point that capital receipts from sales should be used for new build schemes as happened under the John Major government, but which was cancelled by Tony Blair, although the right to buy was retained.

There was also a proposal that the right to buy should be extended to private lets. What do you think-please?

Best wishes,

This year's will be the 39th Onion Show to be held in order to raise funds for local causes and Burton Children's Sports Committee (BCSC). The BCSC uses the donation to benefit all the children of the village by helping to pay for the village sports day, the Christmas parties for 0 – 11yrs, the big kids' day out for the older ones and subsidising the amazing fireworks display on bonfire night to be enjoyed by "kids" of all ages!

This year the proceeds of the Onion Show will be split, in the main, between BCSC and Cancer Care, Multiple Sclerosis Charity with other local causes receiving a donation. As always, the day can only be a success with people making the effort to enter classes, donating promises or coming on the day to partake in the auction.

If you would like to donate anything for the auction of promises please contact any of the following people:

Neil - 01524 781770, Callum – 07980 302166 or Carl - 07866 456677.

Will those currently holding trophies please return them to any of the mentioned or leave at the Kings.

One of the annually changing Children's Classes will be an "Item Made from Recyclable Materials". Kids, get your thinking caps on and surprise us all! A wildlife/animal picture will be included.

We are pleased to announce that this year's Judges will be long time supporters of the show, Graham and Linda Wilson.

We look forward to seeing you all on Sunday 4 October to help keep this event going, keeping our village the best it can be and supporting each other for the sake of all of us.

August has been poor with the Broad Leaved Helleborine orchids, in fact so poor that the majority of them have "given up the ghost" as they say and are going over with closed buds before they have had chance to flower, it's been a strange year in some respects for these rare orchids especially up on Hutton Roof. I suppose you've got to have poor to have great! (in follow up years). After saying all that the Dark Red Helleborines, which flowered much earlier, were an absolute delight to the eye this year with some lovely variant colours. Even some with red sepals whilst contrasting with yellow/lemony petals. So stunning and very unusual. So summing up overall, I suppose you could say it's been very hit and miss..

The flora diary is quickly coming to its close, but I do have another great pleasure left and that is to go up on Hutton Roof about this time to check out the Autumn Gentian. A beautiful flower, usually of a purple colour, but sometimes up here we also have the rarer "white" flowered ones as well.

They can be seen growing on both the Hutton Roof side and the Farleton side.

I had my last Dark Green Fritillary butterfly on the 19 August and this specimen was well worn and I wondered if it would last the next hour! Other butterflies still around on that date was the Large Skipper, Speckled Woods, Meadow Browns and Common Blues. Seen very few of the Grayling this year.

It's been a great pleasure this year to watch our Swifts who have all now departed. The majority left us on the 29 July, then another batch of approximately 15 left us on 8 August and the final pair with their young departed on Sunday 16 August. Only a rough estimate but we think Burton Swifts may well have raised at least 30 chicks this year which is really good news especially when you look at the poor results being recorded throughout the country as a whole.

It's been a pleasure having several of the villagers with us over the past twelve weeks observing the Swifts and I am sure they have enjoyed it. We have managed to make plenty of notes and sketches and we have also now created our own "Burton Swift Bird Study Group page" which is on the internet at: www.burtonswiftbirdstudygroup.blogspot.co.uk

Lord of the Manor visits Burton

The Lord of the Manor of Burton, Beith Atkinson and his wife Olive, made a brief visit to the village recently.

They stayed at the King's Arms and enjoyed a day at The Lunesdale Show, Kirkby Lonsdale, with Kath and John Hayhurst.

They take great interest in all the village activities via the internet, Burton News and the Westmorland Gazette.

After visiting Glasgow they will return to Wellington, New Zealand, where they live.

A Holiday at Home

As Burton empties with holidays abroad families, my mind goes to back to a holiday I had during the War. At that time travel was discouraged as troops using the railways and the beaches were either covered in barbed wire or banned in case there was an invasion from the sea. Local authorities were encouraged to undertake HOLIDAYS AT HOME and so Blackburn Council organised a week in Corporation Park. There was to be games, music etc and there was to be a Circus.

My Mother was a theatrical landlady for the Grand Theatre (Variety) and was given two tickets for the Circus by a family whose career was in the Circus but in the winter they adapted their act to fit the Variety stages. So it was that Mother and I, aged about 8 years, went to the Circus in the Park.

Afterwards we went to see our friends outside the Big Top. Nearby there was one of the elephants and I was asked if I would like to sit on top. I was thrilled and stood with my back to it. On a command a trunk gently came round my waist and carefully picked me up and placed me behind its head. Then the trunk was removed and I sat there entranced. The adults below seemed very small and the view all around was spectacular. However what was a surprise as I sat astride was strong elephant bristles, totally unexpected but bearable. Then came the lowering process. Again done so tenderly.

I was in Heaven. Later in life seeing elephants with seats - Howdahs - made me realise how much better my experience had been.

So for one young girl a HOLIDAY AT HOME was THE BEST HOLIDAY EVER.

Lancaster Canal Trust News

First pleasure boats at Farleton on the Lancaster canal for 60 years

Walkers on the Farleton section of this lovely canal, cut off in the 60s by the M6, were delighted to see pleasure boats once more.

Launched at Farleton Turnpike Bridge 156 on a friendly farmer's field and organised by Colin Ogden, of the Old Lanky Boaters Group. This was an experiment to test the water in preparation for bringing back some of the spectacular events that used to take place in this section. Boats were operating from Dukes Bridge 155 throughout the day.

Colin said "It has been a pleasurable and worthwhile event and to see the surprise and pleasure on peoples faces and to hear their comments is very gratifying."

Talks are taking place with Burton and Holme Parish Councillors with a view to reinstating the Holme Dinghy Race, and walkers, cyclists and neighbours were very enthusiastic and pleased that this is being considered.

Malcolm and Christine Stephenson, of the nearby Dukes, an old public house, were the first passengers for many, many years and were delighted with the trip.

Two-thirds of the year down already

Where does the time go? It won't be much longer before we'll be thinking of winter woolies, boots and a rotund jolly man in a fur lined red coat!

BN front page colouring competition

Many thanks for the wonderful entries you sent in for our August cover colouring competition and, although not as many as we would have liked, what a creative collection they were. In fact it was impossible to pick a 'best one' so we have decided that all the entries deserved a prize. So well done to all. Your entries will be displayed at the CraftMarket in October so come and see your entry alongside the others.

Books on Wheels...

...or not, as the poor library van has allegedly reached the end of its days but there seems to have been no official notice to the village as yet. Even the county library service's web site just tells how good the service is - it was, when it was here! Surely in the grand scheme of local finance such an appreciated and useful amenity is worth the cost of a new library van?

Groups and Societies

You know you are out there, your members know you are out there, but if you don't tell us we cannot tell anyone else that you are out there - so please remember to either email us a copy or drop an events calendar into the village shop for the Burton News folder so we can include your meetings in our pages. It's a free service so why not use it?

An extraordinary story of the renowned astrophysicist, Stephen Hawking, based on his devoted and long suffering wife Jane's memoir of her life with him from their meeting at Cambridge to their eventual divorce many years later. At the age of 21 Stephen was diagnosed with a debilitating neurological disease but went on to father 3 children and to pursue a ground-breaking scientific career with Jane's tireless support. Eddie Redmayne won the 2014 Best Actor Oscar for his quite remarkable portrayal of Stephen.

Adm: £12 U18s: £5 Members: £10

When asked "Why climb Everest?", George Mallory famously replied "Because it's there." But also 'there' was the 22 year old Andrew 'Sandy' Irvine. George Mallory's legend was assured. But what of his partner Sandy Irvine? The question is whether he will ever be found. His ice pick was discovered placed on a ledge a few feet from the summit, and a single Alpine violet that he had picked at the foot of the mountain was passed on to his sister. Told in narration, epic verse and song, "Icepicks and Violets" is the first ever musical biography of Mallory and Irvine.

The Doppel Gang

Adm: £12 U18s: £5 Members: £10

A new comedy play by Dominic Hedges, The Doppel Gang combines the wild wit of iconic comedy giants – Groucho, Harpo and Chico Marx – with generous helpings of British humour and humility. War wages in Europe, while back in Blighty a group of entertainers battle to save a theatre from closure, by masquerading as The Marx Brothers. As the Blitz tears through London, a hopeless theatre manager, Lombard, persuades a desperate double act, Tommy and Cyril and the not so convincing male impersonator Rachel to join him in an audacious stunt; one last roll of the dice to save his building and boost morale.
